Caught in Traps

There are 15,000 flies in a solid quart, that is if they are all big and fat as they are in Council Bluffs, where they get plenty to eat, or 500,000 in a bushell They can be trapped at the rate of a bushel a week if the right kind of a snare is used, and if every family and business establishment in the city used the proper device between 15,000 and 20,000 bushels of flies could be harvested in the city each week during the active fly

These figures and deductions are the result of experiments conducted by Ben B. King and H. J. Bublitz of the Woodring Undertaking company. Mr. Bub-lits has been making some huge fly traps that will hold about three bushels each. The traps are placed at the street curb. The insects crawl in from the under side and enter the trap through an inverted funnel. Two experimental traps were placed on the sidewalk last flaturday morning and yesterday a bushel of deadflies was taken from each. The trape were again placed in position and last evening each contained half a peck of
